Are You Smarter than a Junior Master Horseman?

AQHA's Junior Master Horseman program was created to bring the world of horses into the lives of children and horse enthusiasts.

Along with the American Youth Horse Council, AQHA developed a guide titled "Junior Master Horseman: Level One," which presents basic age-appropriate and kid-tested activities, created specifically to encourage young horsemen to embrace beginning horsemanship in a meaningful, safe and fun way.

Each day of the AQHA World Championship Show, a question will be pulled from the JMHH guide. If you answer the question correctly, you can win an AQHA-logo shirt.

So just how smart are you? Smarter than a Junior Master Horseman?

QUESTION

The tree is the skeleton of the saddle that the padding and leather covers while the part a rider sits on is called the seat.

What are the pieces of leather called that attach the stirrups to the tree of a western saddle?

For the answer, check out a Junior Master Horseman guide at the AQHA booth in the Trade Show.

YESTERDAY'S WINNER

Jacquie Schoegg of Bellevue, Washington, had the correct answer (as did 13 other entries) for Sunday's question, which was: What does dresser mean?

The answer is "to train."

Jacquie, you can pick up your Team Wrangler-logo jacket in the Media Room.

Meet AQHA's Newest Corporate Partner

The American Quarter Horse Association has a new Corporate Partner on its team. B&W is now the official trailer hitch of AQHA and will continue through 2010.

"We are thrilled to have B & W on our team of Corporate Partners," said AQHA Executive Vice President Bill Brewer. "The company focuses its products on safety, and we are happy to offer our members the highest quality and safest trailer hitch on the market."

As an AQHA Corporate Partner, B & W will be featured on "America's Horse," AQHA's weekly television show and also is a key component in bringing America's Horse magazine to every AQHA member each month.

The company also will sponsor the Ford AQHYA World Championship Show, the Bayer Select World Championship Show and the AQHA World Championship Show.

"We are honored to be a new partner with the American Quarter Horse Association and excited about our upcoming involvement. Great organization, great horses and great people, doesn't get much better than that", said Scott

Marsh of B&W Trailer Hitches.

B&W puts an enormous emphasis on quality and safety.

In 1991, B&W received a patent for its design of the Turnover Ball Gooseneck hitch, an innovative product that allows the gooseneck ball to be turned over, leaving an unobstructed, flat bed. B&W also offers a line of fifth-wheel hitches, adjustable ball mounts and custom truck bodies.

Development, engineering, production and all management and marketing are conducted in Humboldt, Kansas, located in the southeastern corner of the state. Consumer sales take place through an extensive B&W dealer network of approximately 5,000 dealers located across the United States.

For more information about B&W, visit www.turnoverball.com. For more information on AQHA Corporate Partners and to view member incentives, visit www.aqha.com/partners.
