By mission, the American Quarter Horse Foundation is the related philanthropic organization of the American Quarter Horse Association, but to many it’s the physical evidence of an unspoken understanding and bond between horse and man.

The Foundation’s efforts touch the hearts and minds of people all over the world. We support the care and welfare of the American Quarter Horse through equine research; help children and adults overcome physical, psychological and emotional barriers through our support of equine assisted activities and therapies; ensure the future of the equine industry by developing and educating future industry professional through scholarships; and preserve the past, present and future of American Quarter Horse history through the Hall of Fame & Museum.

Each and every day, our horses put their whole hearts into their jobs. With your help, we put ours into their future. Through the support of donors, we can continue to give our best back to our horses for many years to come.
Dear Friends,

As my first year as Foundation Council Chair comes to a close, I am amazed at the incredible devotion our members have to the American Quarter Horse. The success of the Foundation’s programs is directly attributed to those who step forward and meet the challenges we face as an industry. It is truly incredible to witness the depth of contribution made time and time again to our Foundation and all of its endeavors. With limitless faith, our membership continues to support the goals and objectives set forth so that all – horses and people – can benefit.

As an exhibitor and parent of two decade-long AQHYA exhibitors, it is apparent to me that the lasting friendships and experiences established along the way continue to open doors and create connections in so many aspects of life and service. For these friendships I am forever grateful, and I will pursue each and every connection in an attempt to strengthen all the efforts our Foundation serves.

From the bottom of my heart, thanks to all my AQHA family for your continuous support and relentless efforts on behalf of the American Quarter Horse Foundation.

Warmest Regards,

Kate Johnson
Council Chair
American Quarter Horse Foundation
American Quarter Horses have long captivated our hearts with their gentleness and willingness to put their whole hearts into any job asked. They touch many lives and unite people from all walks of life with the common goal to celebrate the bond we share with these great animals and preserve and protect their well-being for future generations.

The American Quarter Horse Foundation was established for this purpose and with your help creates and maintains programs that improve the lives of horses and people.

By volunteering, supporting and sharing our message, you help the Foundation:

- Honor those who shaped our breed and share this legacy with future generations;
- Help someone overcome physical and cognitive barriers with the help of a horse;
- Help a student pay for college expenses;
- Provide the aid necessary to help find cures for the ailments that plague our horses.

To learn more about the many ways you can invest in the future of the American Quarter Horse, visit aqha.com/foundation, call (806) 378-5029 or email foundation@aqha.org.

“Focal Adhesion Molecules as Regulators of Maternal Recognition of Pregnancy in the Mare”
This study is focused on determining how a mare recognizes that she is pregnant and does not start cycling again. Although we know the embryo moves back and forth in the uterus between days 10 and 15 of pregnancy and this contact with the uterine lining appears to prevent recycling, we still don’t know how during that movement the embryo transmits a signal to the uterine lining at the cellular and molecular level. This study is aimed at answering that question and the results may aid us in intervening and preventing early embryonic loss in mares.

“Identification of Aeroallergens Associated with Recurrent Airway Obstruction using Immunoproteomics”
Recurrent obstructive airway disease is a chronic respiratory disease similar to asthma in people. It is frequently occurs in adult horses and is believed to be an allergic reaction to inhaled particles in mold found in hay or barns. This study will use a new molecular method called immunoproteomics to measure the antibodies in lung mucus from affected horses and dust samples to identify the specific fungi that are causing the disease.

“Navicular Syndrome: Demonstrable Changes within the Vascular Cushion of the Rostral Frog: Deterioration of the CPL’s (Chondropulvinale Ligaments) and AVC’s (Arteriovenous Complexes)”
Navicular syndrome has long been a crippling lameness affecting many American Quarter Horses. Most research has focused on the navicular bone and its associated ligaments. This research lab has found evidence that other regions of the foot in horses with navicular syndrome are underdeveloped due to a lack of stimulation. This study is aimed at examining the tissues within the heel beneath the navicular apparatus as certain support ligaments (chondropulvinale ligament-CPLs) and their blood supply between the deep digital flexor tendon and the lateral cartilage are damaged in the very early stages of the disease. They believe these changes occur prior to other changes of the navicular bone and associated ligaments. This study will examine this region histologically and begin to correlate the changes within the CPLs of normal and affected horses.

“Age-Related Effects on Markers of Inflammation and Cartilage Metabolism in Response to an Intra-Articular Lipopolysaccharide Challenge”
Repeated joint trauma and stress that young horses experience during training can result in excessive production of joint enzymes that breakdown cartilage and can eventually lead to the development of osteoarthritis that may lead to early retirement. This study will determine age-related effects of joint inflammation and cartilage damage by measuring specific enzyme markers found within joint synovial fluid of horses following induction of inflammation.

“Discovery of Genomic Copy Number Variants in Equine Cryptorchidism”
Cryptorchidism is a failure of one or both testicles to descend into the scrotum. It affects 2-8 percent of male foals with the highest incidence in American Quarter Horses followed by Percherons, American Saddlebreds and ponies. The condition may affect fertility and is associated with increased costs and health risks due to the surgery needed to remove the undescended testicle. Cryptorchidism is a heritable condition in some mammals but has never been proven in horses. The proposed research builds upon recent discoveries in humans showing that genomic copy number variants (CNVs) are associated with Cryptorchidism. The researchers hypothesize that CNVs are also involved in equine Cryptorchidism. This study will examine 10 candidate genes in samples from 40 Cryptorchid horses to determine if the gene can be identified in horses.

“Molecular Diagnostic Assays for the Detection and Control of Contagious Equine Metritis”

Contagious Equine Metritis is a highly contagious venereal disease of horses that causes uterine inflammation, infertility and abortion in mares. Since there is no vaccine available, the disease is controlled by diagnostic testing, quarantine and antibiotic treatment of affected horses. The problem is that many positive horses are missed because current diagnostic protocols are cumbersome and therefore, some positive horses are missed. The goal of this study is to develop highly sensitive and easily conducted diagnostics assays to improve the identification of positive horses so they can be treated.

“Suppression of Equine Type-1 Interferon Response by Equine Herpesvirus-1”

Recent research funded by the Foundation has found that one of the ways Equine Herpes Virus-1 overcomes a horse’s immune system and gains entry into the horse’s body is by suppressing the horse’s interferon response which is one of the horse’s first lines of defense against viral infections. This study will focus on determining which segment of the interferon response is suppressed and will aid us in finding ways to overcome that suppression and protect our horses against respiratory infection, abortion and neurological disease caused by EHV-1.

THE AMERICAN QUARTER HORSE FOUNDATION
HONORING LEGENDS

American Quarter Horse
Hall of Fame Inductees

FILLINIC
Arizona Junie-Alouette

With Greg Ward as her trainer, Fillinic won the Cow Palace open hackamore championship twice, then the Cow Palace open bridle championship. In 1966, the pair won the California Reined Cow Horse Association’s open bridle championship. Fillinic had 10 foals who kept up her traditions. Fillinic “was literally the foundation of the National Reined Cow Horse Association,” says Cheryl Magoteaux Cody, a member of NRCHA’s management team. “Her record of accomplishment and production is unmatched in the cow-horse world, and her foals became the achievers and sires of their generation.”

FRECKLES PLAYBOY
Jewel’s Leo Bar-Gay Jay

In NCHA, Freckles Playboy is ranked third on the list of all-time leading sires, by offspring earnings. His sons and daughters tallied an amazing $24.5 million in NCHA earnings. Freckles Playboy offspring also earned more than $285,000 in the National Reined Cow Horse Association, more than $125,000 in the National Reining Horse Association and nearly $177,000 at the AQHA World Championship Show. From 2,084 foals in 26 foal crops, Freckles Playboy sired 13 AQHA world champions and 17 reserve world champions. When you move to his daughters’ foals, then you’re talking about an additional 13 AQHA world champions, 15 reserve world champions and more than $35 million in earnings with AQHA alliance partners.

LADY BUG’S MOON
Top Moon-FL Lady Bug

The fifth-ranked broodmare sire at the time of his death in 1995, Lady Bug’s Moon sired the producers of the earners of more than $13.2 million. They are led by champion and 1982 All American Futurity winner Mr Master Bug, who was the all-time leading money-earning stallion until that mark was broken by One Dashing Eagle.

MISS OLENE
Leo-Barbara L

It wasn’t her ability as a racehorse that put Miss Olene in the Hall of Fame, it was her ability as a broodmare. The dam of the earners of $700,673 on the track in the 1960s and 1970s, Miss Olene produced 17 foals, of which 15 started on the track and 10 came back as winners, four of those in stakes. Miss Olene was a product – and a producer – of American Quarter Horse Racing Royalty.

POCO TIVIO
Poco Bueno-Shellwin

As a stallion, Poco Tivio was known for passing on his low-key temperament and flashy working style. His offspring showed as well in halter as in cutting. Poco Tivio received the NCHA Certificate of Ability Bronze Award, had $11,000 in NCHA earnings and is a member of the Working Cow Horse Hall of Fame. He sired 308 registered foals in 25 crops. Of those, 81 were AQHA point earners, 10 AQHA Champions, 26 ROM earners, and six Superior award winners that won 10 Superior performance awards in five events.
Frank Merrill has been involved in the horse industry for more than 50 years. He established and, along with good friend Jerold Wells, built Windward Stud, in Purcell, Oklahoma, in 1972. Frank competes as a non-pro in the National Cutting Horse Association and has lifetime earnings of more than $440,000. He remains active on the political scene with AQHA, NCHA and the United States Equestrian Federation, United States Equestrian Team Foundation, FEI, American Association of Equine Practitioners, as well as his church, country club and the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce.

Guy Ray Rutland ranched at Independence, Kansas, and for nine years (1967 and 1970-77) was leading breeder by wins. In more than 60 years of breeding American Quarter Horses, Guy Ray and Mildred Rutland bred 48 stakes winners and the race earners of $1,954,309, while Guy Ray in his own name also bred another 13 stakes winners. They are the all-time 12th leading breeders of AQHA Champions, with 15, and Guy alone bred another eight AQHA Champions, putting him in a seven-way tie for 37th on the list. They bred 90 Quarter Horses that stood first in halter classes in AQHA shows, ranking them 26th among breeders of halter class winners, and horses from their program also earned money in National Cutting Horse Association arenas and accolades in groups such as the Palomino Horse Breeders of America.

As a 30-year breeder, Greg Whalen's 346 foals have earned 8,161 halter points and 725 performance points, all divisions. Whalen is No. 10 on the list of all-time breeders by halter class winners and has earned 4,438 open halter points and 15 world championships. An AQHA judge, Whalen judged major shows, such as the All American Quarter Horse Congress and the AQHA World Championship Show in the late 1970s and 1980s.
American Quarter Horse breeder Betty L. Flarida of Springfield, Ohio, was a second mom to more than 20 years’ worth of youth in Ohio and in AQHA.

It’s that service to members of the American Quarter Horse Youth and Ohio Quarter Horse Youth associations that has led to Betty being named the 2013 recipient of the Merle Wood Humanitarian Award.

The Merle Wood award is based on voluntary service focused on young people. Betty’s service exemplifies the work the award is intended to honor.

Betty was youth adviser for the Ohio Quarter Horse Association from 1988 to 2008, guiding the Ohio youth through the trials and tribulations of qualifying for the All American Quarter Horse Congress teams and AQHYA World Championship Show. Under Betty’s guidance, youth members organized fundraisers to pay for expenses involved in sending and supporting youth at those big shows. She also designed the OQHA youth logo and was a 4-H leader in Allen County, Ohio, for 10 years.

In the years when Betty didn’t have immediate family at the Youth World, she and her husband, Bill, helped with many activities there and stayed for the full show, serving as counselors, mentors and cheerleaders.

Not content with that chore, she also attended the youth convention with at least four youth from Ohio every year that she was an adviser.

Betty was a member of the AQHA Youth Activities Committee for 14 years, from 1995 to 2009, attending all committee meetings, some twice a year, in a generous donation of time. In 2008, Betty was AQHA youth adviser of the year.

Several of the youth riders whom Betty influenced have gone on to become noted industry leaders, including a foreign exchange student from Brazil, whom Betty hosted for a year, who is now a veterinarian.

Betty was also a horse show mom for her own sons. Two of them, Mike and Shawn, are professional horse trainers, famous in the National Reining Horse Association, and a third son, Mark is a farrier. These days, Betty is cheering on a grandson who is a horse trainer and another grandson who is just getting involved in youth activities.

Betty has always been “all in” when it comes to horses and youth and giving back to the industry. A common denominator, however, has been that people whom she has influenced have also gone on to give back to the industry.

And Betty’s work isn’t done yet.

For the last 13 years, she has managed the information booth at the All American Quarter Horse Congress in Columbus, Ohio.

To nominate an individual for the 2014 Merle Wood Humanitarian Award, visit the American Quarter Horse Foundation’s website at www.aqha.com/foundation and download the application, or give us a call at (806) 378-5029. Award deadline is May 1.

Larry Larson

His involvement goes back to the early 1980s

The American Quarter Horse Foundation gratefully acknowledges our friends, who in hopes of encouraging others to provide for the Foundation in their estate plans, have graciously allowed us to publish their names as well as those who have chosen to remain anonymous.

One of these special friends is Larry Larson who joined the Heritage Society in February 2012. His involvement goes back to the early 1980s when he showed horses. During his tenure in the show ring, Larry recognized a need for quality equine photos to commemorate their special achievements. Larry has an eye for capturing a horse’s best features through the lens of his camera and has been photographing horses for more than 20 years.

Larry has been an AQHA Director for the state of South Dakota since 2000, served on AQHA’s marketing committee and is past president of South Dakota Quarter Horse Association. He often makes memorial or honorary donations to the Foundation and says, “Giving an honorarium gift to the Foundation is a simple, personal way to honor our ‘industry friends’ or a special American Quarter Horse that has touched their life.”

He says he chose to include the Foundation in his estate plans because “After a lifetime of involvement with the American Quarter Horse, there was never a doubt in my mind – a charitable bequest to the American Quarter Horse Foundation was to be part of my will. It’s tax deductible, sample language is provided for your attorney and you can designate a percentage of your estate as an allocation to the Foundation, equine research, Hall of Fame, scholarships, equine-assisted activities and therapies – the choice is yours.”

If you have provided for the Foundation in your estate plans, please notify us. You are not required to reveal the amount of your planned gift. We only ask that you confirm that you have included the Foundation in your estate plans.

Your notification allows us to thank you and welcome you into the Heritage Society. You will receive

- invitations to special events
- recognition through the Honor Roll of Donor listings*
- Foundation Quarterly Newsletter
- Annual Report

If you do not wish to receive public recognition, your request for confidentiality will be honored.

For more information about providing for the future of the American Quarter Horse in your estate plans, please contact us at (806) 378-5029, foundation@aqha.org or visit us on the web www.aqha.com/foundation.
wimpy \wim-pē\ adj:
Lacking strength of will or character
Synonyms: frail, characterless, weak

DON’T LET THE NAME FOOL YOU.
Wimpy P-1 outlived his name and made history when he was hand-selected as the horse to receive registration number 1 in the American Quarter Horse Association registry. He was just the first, however, of a long line of extraordinary horses and people that would continue to make history.

Learn all their extraordinary stories at the American Quarter Horse Hall of Fame & Museum. Plan your trip today at quarterhorsemuseum.com.
