

2016 AQHA Racing Champions Ceremony

The ceremony will be aired via live webcast, which can be accessed several ways.

Desktop Computer: Go to www.aqha.com/racing in your Web browser and click on the AQHA Racing Champions Ceremony logo, which will take you to the Racing Champions page. The player will be immediately available and free to view.

Mobile Devices: Mobile users, both iOS and Android, have two options. A user can open a Web browser window and type in www.livestream.com, click “Discover” and then search “AQHA” in the events search which is the magnifying glass icon. Click on “2016 AQHA Racing Champions Award Ceremony” to view.

Alternatively, mobile users can also download the free Livestream mobile app. Find this by searching “livestream” in your App Store or Google Play. You will be required to create and log in to a Livestream account, which is also free. It requires your name, email and password, but after that, you will have immediate access.

Once you download the app, search “AQHA” and then look for “2016 AQHA Racing Champions Award Ceremony” to view.

Roku: Roku users can also access the webstream, allowing them to view the ceremony from their television or other devices. From your Roku, add the Livestream channel to your library (this is free). When you open the Livestream channel, you can select the 2016 AQHA Racing Champions Award Ceremony or scroll to the bottom to search for it. There is no need to log into this channel.